

BUSINESS OF ROUTINE NATURE IS TRANSACTED

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS NOT TO ADJOURN FOR SEV-ERAL DAYS.

Yesterday the board of county commissioners and a representative from the electric light and gas companies personally inspected the different sections of Tonopah with the idea of arriving at a conclusive determination regarding the plans for lighting the streets. It is the intent of the commissioners to submit a plan that will practically call for the lighting of all the streets, and with this in mind, bids will be called for to be submitted by February 7.

Under the present system of street lighting the gas mains are only extended to cover about half the town, the remaining portion being in darkness.

The commissioners at the meeting today transacted only routine business, and it will take several days yet before an adjournment is taken. All the county and town bills have been allowed and only matters of small importance remain to be dispensed with.

WOMAN SHOT BY BANDIT DIES AT WINNEMUCCA

WINNEMUCCA, Jan. 9.—Intense feeling prevails here and extra precautions are being taken to guard the two men held on suspicion of having shot Jean Quilici to death at Imlay. This afternoon Mrs. Quilici died at 1:30 o'clock as a result of the bullet which was fired into her back by the murderous thugs responsible for the brutal crime. Following her death a strong feeling swept through the city, and for time it was feared that trouble would be experienced by the authorities.

Sheriff Lamb is a man known to be firm in the upholding of his duty, and any attempt to get at the prisoners will be met with armed resistance.

Mrs. Quilici remained at the hospital under the constant care of the nurses and physicians and, while it was known that her condition was hopeless from the first, every attention possible was given the unfortunate woman. The immediate cause of her death was hemorrhage in the lungs, resulting from the gunshot wound.

One of the men captured by Sheriff Ferrel has been identified by the brother of Mrs. Quilici, who was in the room when the tragedy occurred. He positively picked out one of the men under arrest as having been concerned in the robbery and murder of his sister and her husband.

Sheriff Lamb, prosecuting his search still further today, discovered a portion of the money which was stolen from the saloon, under the cabin where the men were camping.

The evidence against the prisoners is said to be conclusive, and no time will be lost in holding the preliminary examination.

MANHATTAN SHOWING UP TO ADVANTAGE

GREAT DEAL OF INTEREST IS BEING CENTERED IN NORTHERN CAMPS.

"There is more interest centered in Manhattan and its mining industry today than in any other camp of the state," remarked a returned voyager this morning, who had spent several weeks there.

"Of course this is partly due to several rich strikes made there recently. That made on the Pierce-Larsen lease and on the Bugo property, as well as the bonanza strike on the Big Four the other day, has convinced mining men that Manhattan is the scene of some wonderfully rich ore deposits. And the extremely optimistic are comparing the future of the camp with Goldfield."

"The most active development work in the camp is done by leasers, and this is especially true of the Big Four, which company, under the presidency of S. E. Vermilyea of Los Angeles, has been most liberal in its treatment of those to whom it has let ground. That the policy is a winning one is shown by the fact that it has some of the best mining men of the state exploiting its ground. And all its leasers are making good. Moreover, the Big Four company, according to its superintendent, Mr. Lindley, proposes to go to work on its own hook by the first of next month."

"Mining men of the camp are vitally interested in the efforts of J. V. Priest to establish the Lemon mill, since it is the only independent mill in the camp. The leasers are particularly anxious to see the mill running steadily. To overhaul the plant has cost something over twice as much as Mr. Priest figured on, consequently he has had to raise money at a particularly inopportune season. But it is believed he will pull through all right."

"The interest felt in Manhattan on the outside is abundantly evidenced by the traffic between this point and the camp. Two, three and four auto loads of people every day en route to Manhattan indicate the revival of interest in the camp."

What a Dinner" (comedy), "Up the Thames to Westminster" (scene), "The Touch of a Child's Hand" (Kalem drama), and a feature Indian picture entitled "The Maid of Niagara." This is a picture based upon a legend that once each year it was necessary for the Indians to choose one of their daughters by lot and send her over the falls as a sacrifice to appease the spirit of the cataraact. The scenery and acting in this picture is of the best. Commencing tonight La Petite Ruth and Master Herschel open a one week's engagement in this theater, appearing twice at each show. The first show starts promptly at 6:50 each evening.

SPARKS IN FAVOR OF LOCAL OPTION

AT LEAST THAT WAS THE SEN-
TIMENT AT A UNION SERVICE.

The congregations of the Methodist and Baptist churches at Sparks Sunday night held a union meeting at the former, when the pastors of the two churches discussed the question of local option.

The church was filled to the doors, several saloonkeepers being in the audience.

At the close of the service a rising vote was taken as to the advisability of working for local option, and it is stated that not a man or woman remained setting. The sentiment was unanimous for the people having a say as to whether liquor licenses should be granted.

James Morris, editor of the Tonopah Miner, who spent the last two weeks in San Francisco enjoying the holidays with his daughter, returned to Tonopah yesterday. He was accompanied by Mrs. Morris.

MAINTAIN DOUBTS BAGGED SUNDAY BY LOCAL HUNTERS

TWO TEAMS ENTER COMPETI-
TION AND WINNERS YET UNANNOUNCED.

Who killed the rabbits in the big hunt yesterday? There is quite a mystery attached to the hunting expedition between the two teams organized by Grant Crumley and Ed Uren, for both sides are claiming the credit of securing the greater number of scalps. A wager made between Crumley and Uren, as to which team would kill the largest number of bunnies has been declared off, for each side declares the other paid no attention to the truth in tabulating the scalps of the different hunters. According to Crumley's story his team secured the following scores:

Grant Crumley (captain), 29;
Newt Crumley, 26; Wylie Kelley, 29; Cal Shaw, 13; Fred Kelley, 9; total 106.

The returns credited to the opposing team are as follows:
Ed Uren (captain), 25; Thomas Dwyer, 41; W. W. Booth, 70; Ed Addison, 15; Eugene Marty, 10; total 101.

But the members of Ed Uren's team, when interviewed, state that Crumley's aggregation secured but 94 rabbits, which were divided as follows:

Grant Crumley, 29; Newt Crumley, 23; Wylie Kelley, 20; Cal Shaw, 13; Fred Kelley, 9; total 94. And according to their own version the team's hunt for the day is as follows:

Ed Uren, 25; Tom Dwyer, 41; W. W. Booth, 10; Ed Addison, 15; Eugene Marty 12; total 103.

Uren's team granted to Grant Crumley a piece of government rabbit land that was crowded with crippled and young rabbits and in which Grant killed eight bunnies while sitting behind a blind. He was all in from walking and had not this concession been granted Captain Crumley would only have had 21 scalps dangling from his belt.

If any one thinks Tom Dwyer can't bag rabbits, he is not guessing. Out of 52 shells he got 41 rabbits.

The contest started at 7:30 a. m. Uren's team ceased hunting at 2:05. Crumley's team was shooting rabbits at 3:30 in the afternoon. Captain Uren has challenged the captain of the opposing squad for $50, but it is safe to predict that the wager will not be covered.

CHALK IS USED FOR SOBERING

SOMETHING NEW IN THE WAY
OF TREATING A JAG DIS-COVERED.

Here is something that it would be well to remember, not that you may need it, but you may have some friend who will.

The other day a man who appeared to have been under the influence of liquor came into the Journal office and inquired if he couldn't get a piece of chalk. As a material of that kind is used to post bulletins the man was readily accommodated and as he thanked the lad who gave him the stick of chalk he remarked that he had been on a terrible "bun" and that he wanted the chalk so as to sober up.

With that he put the stick in his mouth and commenced to eat it. The boy stood aghast at the exhibition, for he was young in years and had not followed the cocktail route along the devious paths that lead to the station house.

After chewing the chalk and swallowing it the man said he felt better and would be all right in a short time.

This story happens to be true and now the chalk in the Journal office is being kept in the safe.—Reno Journal.
